

After working on the application form with her for four days, I had a rejection email returned within one hour of applying!

It is my understanding (from ex-colleagues I worked with at Dyno Nobel and Orica) that I am on some kind of watch list. I am requesting that you assist me to cleanse my name for this personal record or watch list. What is the process of defending yourself if your name is on one of these lists? Surely, a secret list set up by people who appoint themselves, accuser, jury, judge and executioner, where the accused has no right to defend himself by due process of law does not seem to me to be a process fitting for a Democracy with freedom of speech.

I guess my question fundamentally is how does an individual go about resolving issues with the Federal Authorities who appear to be frustrating my every attempt to get a job?

Yours Sincerely

Michael Littlefair
