

Sent: Monday, January 26, 2009 8:58 PM
Subject: RE: Your PhD thesis

Dear Michael

Your thesis is no more - please see attached screenshot of our catalogue entry.

Christine

-----Original Message-----

From: michael [mailto:michael.littlefair@bigpond.com]

Sent: 26 January 2009 02:47

To: Phillips, Christine M

Subject: Fw: Your PhD thesis

Christine

Can you please confirm that you have destroyed my thesis as you promised to do in your email of the 10th December 2008.

Kind Regards

Michael Littlefair

----- Original Message -----

From: "michael" <michael.littlefair@bigpond.com>

To: "Phillips, Christine M" <cmp@bas.ac.uk>

Sent: Saturday, December 13, 2008 11:42 AM

Subject: Re: Your PhD thesis

> Dear Christine

>

> PRIVATE and CONFIDENTIAL

>

> If I understand your opening remarks correctly, you are suggesting that > BAS provided the logistics for me to get to and work in Antarctica and > therefore I owe a moral obligation to BAS to provide them with a copy of > my thesis in appreciation of that support. Under normal circumstances I > would agree with you. Let me describe what has occurred both during my > time working in the Antarctic and since, and perhaps then you will > understand why I have an ethical objection to do that.